March 14, 2000 LB 1234, 1348

threat, the situation you described in connection with these NRDs, or these MTBE locations that he has talked about?

SENATOR BEUTLER: Well, Senator, there's absolutely no comparison, because we're applying literally billions of tons of fertilizer containing nitrates, all over the state, and it's already reached the ground water in unacceptable quantities in many, many places. The product that he was referring to, first of all, will tend to be...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR BEUTLER: ...point source pollution at gas stations that we've now closed up, and the number of locations, I think, was 18 or 19 that they've discovered...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: At most, right.

SENATOR BEUTLER: ...at most. I mean you're talking 18, 19, compared to thousands.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, and I have my light on again. Thank you, Senator Beutler.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Chambers, this is your third time. Your light is on again. Did you wish to talk again?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: That was the first time I spoke on this.

SENATOR CUDABACK: On the committee amendments.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Oh, okay. Then I better speak hastily, rapidly. I've heard...I've read things in the paper that Senator Schrock has said about that LB 1234 being an ecology bill, and the Governor said it, and I said that's totally false, totally untrue. And when that bill comes out here, I'm going to deal with that bill and the political posturing of these people and the rewards and punishments that the Governor has used that bill for. And I'm getting fed up with these self-righteous posturings of senators who run around the state praising the Governor for being so courageous on an ecological issue, and on the one that really is a problem, as I mentioned to some farmers
